Estrogen Flush

(120 Capsules)

Designed to serve the needs of both men and women, Estrogen Flush is an essential addition for anyone who wants to achieve the maximum benefit from their hormone therapy program.

"Free Testosterone" is a term that refers to the amount of available testosterone in your blood. The remaining testosterone is "bound" by a protein known as SHBG. Free testosterone is the testosterone that's responsible for all the benefits we enjoy when we're on hormone replacement therapy.

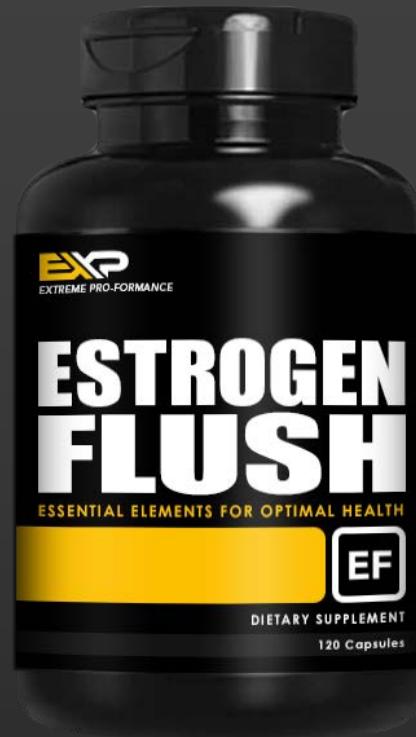

If you're taking testosterone without the supportive medications and supplementation, that testosterone will more easily convert to Estrogen. More Estrogen means more SHBG and more SHBG means less Free Testosterone. Along with prescribed medications, any comprehensive testosterone replacement therapy should include a supplement that will help reduce the level of estrogen in the body. Estrogen Flush does just that!

For women, it's important to balance estrogen and progesterone, and eliminate carcinogenic estrogen metabolites. Estrogen Flush aids women in avoiding estrogen dominance and helps make their current hormone program more effective. Estrogen Flush plays a vital role in preventing cancer causing metabolites and, instead, directs the body to convert estrogen into cancer preventing metabolites. This is essential for any woman who is on hormone replacement therapy. Bottom line, this product will help to mitigate the risks associated with estrogen.

- Calcium-D-Glucarate
- Zinc (as Zinc Oxide)
- DIM (Diindolylmethane)
- Japanese Knotweed Root Extract
- Chrysin

This unique blend of ingredients effectively prevents the body from reabsorbing estrogen allowing it to be excreted from the body. Estrogen Flush also contains ingredients that reduce aromatase activity and prevent precious testosterone from being converted into estrogen.
